RENEWABLE ENERGY

Legal advisors to the renewable energy sector

ABOUT US

Wrigleys Solicitors LLP are a nationally regarded law firm with a deep understanding of the particular areas of law that underpin most renewable energy projects.

We are a leading legal adviser to the charities and social economy sectors and advise co-operatives, community benefit societies, social enterprises, charities, local authorities, educational establishments, landowners, tenants, developers, funders and grant making bodies.

Within our renewables practice we provide legal advice and support in relation to all forms of renewable energy projects, including those which intend to utilise wind turbines, solar installations, battery storage, hydropower, gas, biomass plants and energy recovery from waste, and our work includes advising on the governance, structure, financing contractual and property aspects of purpose driven renewable energy projects.
