SUPPORT FOR SOCIAL CLUBS:
STRENGTHENING
YOUR FUTURE

Working men's clubs and social clubs have been cornerstones of their communities for generations. Many now face challenges ranging from outdated rules to unclear governance structures and property issues. Wrigleys provides specialist advice to help clubs regain confidence, clarity, and a structure fit for the future.

OUR EXPERTISE WITH SOCIAL CLUBS

We have extensive experience supporting working men's clubs, friendly societies, community benefit societies and co-operatives, as well as other similar organisations—helping them to modernise their constitutions, understand their legal structures, and navigate periods of challenge or change. Our dedicated team provides tailored guidance, ensuring your governance is fit for purpose moving forward.

HOW CAN WE HELP?

Modernise Your Rules

Many clubs rely on rulebooks that are out of date, inconsistent, or no longer accessible. We can review your existing rules and provide an updated, practical version aligned to how your club operates today.

Advise on the Best Legal Structure

Whether your club is an unincorporated association, working men's club or a friendly society registered under the Friendly Societies Act 1974, we can help you choose and transition to the most appropriate structure and advise on the routes available to meet your goals.

Resolve Governance Challenges

Clubs often experience disputes about committee appointments or difficulties recruiting new committee members, and we can help resolve what are often very challenging situations.

Sort Out Property Arrangements

Many clubs are no longer sure who is the legal owner of the property they hold. We can assist with clarifying ownership, updating Land Registry records, and transferring property into a more secure structure.

Support When Pressures Mount

Declining membership, funding challenges, and costly repairs can place clubs under strain. We can also assist with winding up where no alternative can be found.

READY TO STRENGTHEN YOUR CLUB'S FUTURE?

If any of the above applies to you, we are here to help. Contact our team for an initial chat, and we can provide you with a bespoke quote for any specific work that you may need.
